

Introducing our Newest Artist

Jack Reilly has arrived in our gallery!

Jack Reilly is considered to be one of the original artists of the late 1970's Abstract Illusionism movement and is known worldwide for his complex, shaped-canvas paintings.

Finding Truth
by Jack Reilly

This painting loosely illustrates truth. We all know the story of a young George Washington damaging his father's beloved cherry tree. When questioned, George said he "cannot tell a lie" and admitted the truth. In another panel Jack painted Cupid. Instead of true love, he finds a lovely shell that will suffice for this particular day's quest.

Split Decision

Reilly continues to produce dynamic abstract paintings. These works are based upon his original abstract Illusionistic concepts, which were refined in his earlier paintings. It was the shaped-canvas paintings that launched Reilly into a new realm of artistic development. They may look like they are multiple canvases, when they actually are one single canvas, painted to give the depth and illusion of many pieces.

Trilogy

by Jack Reilly

See more of Jack's artwork on his artist page at Gallerie505.com. He loves to combine classic European Art and Greek Mythology with his abstract illusionist skills, all painted by stroke of his brush. Let us know how you feel about it. We look forward to hearing from you.

If you are on Maui give us a call or email to learn which nights you can meet Jack in the gallery, painting at the easel.

Thank you. We appreciate your visits to our gallery and wish you a Very Happy New Year!
